EIGHT DAYS OF HOPE REPAIRS HOMES IN LAKE CHARLES DURING 18TH REBUILD TRIP

Tupelo, MS – Eight Days of Hope (EDOH) is hosting their eighteenth rebuild trip this week, taking place from December 3-10. Volunteers nationwide have traveled to Lake Charles, Louisiana, to help repair residents' homes that were damaged due to Hurricanes Laura, Delta, Zeta, an ice storm, and flooding.

“Great loss and pain have come for many around the world in recent years,” remarked Steve Tybor, “It’s our mission to aid those in hopeless situations following devastating storms. This Christmas season, we’ve been given an opportunity to be a part of restoring what was lost in Lake Charles, Louisiana. For eight days, the love of God will be on display through the individuals, businesses, and organizations who partner with us. We are ready to put our arms around this community and share the hope that never fades!”

Eight Days of Hope will meet the needs of over 100 families in Lake Charles, which include drywall installations, roofing, carpentry, and electrical repairs, and much more!

“We are honored to welcome Eight Days of Hope and their numerous volunteers to Lake Charles and Southwest Louisiana,” said Lake Charles Mayor Nic Hunter. “Faith-based groups and nonprofit organizations have been angels among us over the past two years as we have worked to rebuild our community. To everyone who is committing time and resources to helping restore homes over the next eight days, from the bottom of our hearts we thank you. Your giving spirit will make the holiday season brighter for us all.”

In 2020, EDOH responded after Category 4 Hurricane Laura in Southwest Louisiana, and again in 2021 following flooding. Returning to this area means being reunited with familiar faces and working together for one purpose – loving and serving those in need!

In addition to serving the community, EDOH invites the all who are near to join them at the Lake Charles Civic Center on Sunday, December 4, at 7 p.m. for a performance by Christian Music Artist Ben Fuller.
