EIGHT DAYS OF HOPE TO EXPAND PARKGATE PREGNANCY CLINIC IN MISSISSIPPI

Tupelo, MS – Eight Days of Hope (EDOH) is joining forces with Parkgate Pregnancy Clinic in North Mississippi to make their Deep & Wide Campaign a reality – building an 8,000-square-foot facility that will provide hope, support, and care for women and families navigating unplanned pregnancies.

“Skilled handymen and women from around the country are coming to be part of this expansion,” shared Steve Tybor, EDOH Founder & President. “We are humbled and so grateful to come alongside Parkgate as they provide a place of hope, life, and help for growing families in need.”

The expansion will add additional counseling and ultrasound spaces, along with educational programs and stronger support for mothers after birth.

“This has never been about building just to have a building. It is about creating the right space for ministry to happen in a way that meets the ever-changing needs of the women, men, and families we serve,” said Andrea Powell, Executive Director of Parkgate Pregnancy Clinic. “The pro-life landscape has changed dramatically, and we know we have to continue removing barriers, creating greater access to care, and expanding what education and support look like far beyond a positive pregnancy test or a decision for life. This new facility gives us room to do that—to meet people earlier, walk with families longer, provide greater education and practical support, and create opportunities for relationships and discipleship that simply aren't possible in our current space. We want every part of this building to help us meet people where they are and remind them that they do not have to navigate an unexpected pregnancy or the years that follow alone. Watching Eight Days of Hope volunteers come from across the country to literally raise these walls is incredibly meaningful to us. They aren't just helping us build a facility. They are helping create a place where people will encounter the hope of Jesus, families will be strengthened, and lives will be changed for generations to come."

"Seeing the walls of our new facility take shape is a powerful reminder of what can happen when a community comes together around a shared mission," stated Teresa Seelen, Parkgate's Development Director. "We are deeply grateful to Eight Days of Hope, our donors, and every person who has invested in this vision. Together, we are building a place that will serve women and families and impact generations to come."

The outreach will take place in Tupelo, MS, from August 29 to September 12. Volunteers will complete projects including framing, carpentry, and more. At this time, volunteering is closed. To support this outreach or learn more, visit eightdaysofhope.com.
